of Children and Family Services (DCFS) investigation is initiated, the local Child Advocacy Center will coordinate the next steps and keep you informed. Sexual assault centers (also sometimes referred to as rape crisis centers) are a free resource to find sexual violence services in Illinois, and each center has a 24/7 hotline. Visit the Illinois Coalition Against Sexual Assault (ICASA) website<sup>8</sup> or Appendix 2 of this report to find where centers are located.

Illinois has a wealth of resources that parents/guardians, students, and school personnel can turn to for help with sexual abuse. The following sections outline five categories of resources that are available statewide, with contact information for local offices included in two additional appendices at the conclusion of this document. Please contact ISBE's Faith's Law team at faithslaw@isbe.net if you have any questions about this guide. This guide is pursuant to legislation has been enacted in Illinois recently to improve how schools handle allegations of sexual misconduct by a school employee. Please visit ISBE's Faith's Law webpage<sup>9</sup> for more information, including ISBE's Faith's Law FAQ and Guidance document.

Accredited Children's Advocacy Centers of Illinois

Children's Advocacy Centers (CACs) of Illinois partner with local law enforcement and DCFS to support children and work towards ensuring children's safety. CACs help children feel more comfortable during an investigative process, while supporting them and their caregivers. All CACs provide the same 10 minimum services in accordance with the National Children's Alliance Accreditation Standards. These 10 standards are as follows: Multidisciplinary Team Response, Diversity, Forensic Interviewing, Victim Support and Advocacy, Forensic Medical Evaluation, Evidenced-Based Mental Health, Case Review, Case Tracking, Organizational Capacity and Child Protection. At a CAC, a child tells their experiences to a trained interviewer who knows the right questions to ask in a way that does not retraumatize the child. Then, a team which includes medical professionals, law enforcement, mental health, prosecution, child protective services, victim advocacy, and other professionals makes decisions collaboratively about how to help the child based on the forensic interview. CACs offer therapy and medical exams, plus courtroom preparation, victim advocacy, case management, and other services. This is called a multidisciplinary team response and is a core part of the work of CACs. All CAC services are completely free. A map<sup>10</sup> of Children's Advocacy Centers, along with contact information, can be found on the Children's Advocacy Centers of Illinois website<sup>11</sup>. The name, locations, list of services offered, and contact information of all CACs in Illinois is also included in Appendix 1 of this resource guide.

Illinois Sexual Assault Centers

Sexual assault centers provide free and confidential services to survivors of sexual violence. The services include trauma-informed counseling, and medical and legal advocacy. Staff at sexual assault centers believe and work with survivors. Services are available to any survivor regardless of age, race, gender identification or sexual orientation. The response can begin immediately through 24-hour hotlines and 24-hour response to hospital emergency rooms or years after the assault. Services can be provided in-person or virtually. Centers also provide sexual violence prevention programming to schools, community organizations, and other groups. A list of sexual assault centers in Illinois can be found at www.icasa.org. The name, locations, list of services offered, and contact information of all ICASA centers in Illinois is also included in Appendix 2 of this resource guide.

The Service Provider Identification & Exploration Resource<sup>15</sup> (SPIDER) SPIDER is a free, comprehensive resource identification database for the state of Illinois. SPIDER connects service providers, individuals, families, and communities to useful and timely social service resources. It includes detailed information on more than 1,700 agencies and over 4,200 social service programs. The SPIDER link contains contact information and a list of the services offered by organizations that provide mental health evaluations and services to victims and the families of victims of child sexual abuse. All agencies and programs are geo-coded to allow users to locate programs near them. The application is a collaborative effort sponsored by the DCFS, with data maintenance and user support provided by the Northwestern University/Hospital Feinberg School of Medicine, technology resources provided by the Illinois Department of Innovation and Technology, and information provided by countless child and family welfare service providers across the state of Illinois. Users can conduct searches on SPIDER by language, including English, Spanish, and Polish. PLEASE NOTE: The information listed in the SPIDER is solely based on self-reported information provided by the respective agencies and programs.

The Illinois Department of Human Services Division of Mental Health<sup>16</sup> has a number of additional resources for accessing mental health services, partners, resources and support, including contact information and a list of the services offered by organizations that provide mental health evaluations and services to victims and the families of victims of child sexual abuse. Additional mental health providers are listed by the division's Office Locator webpage<sup>17</sup>.

Domestic Violence

Domestic violence is a type of violence that is sometimes related to child sexual abuse. Similar to sexual assault centers and Children's Advocacy Centers, there are dedicated domestic violence service provider organizations in Illinois providing counseling to children and families impacted by this issue. Visit the website of the Illinois Coalition Against Domestic Violence to find a full listing<sup>18</sup> of domestic violence service agencies by county or call the Illinois Domestic Violence Hotline at 1-877-863-6338.

Additional considerations

Members of the Faith's Law Resource Guide workgroup have put together the following list of considerations that may be helpful to students and families as they seek mental health services for child sexual abuse:

- Child sexual abuse, whether it happens once or many times, is a form of trauma. More information about trauma and child sexual abuse can be found on the National Child Traumatic Stress Network<sup>19</sup> and the Administration of Children and Families websites<sup>20</sup>. It is important when looking for a mental health provider to find someone who has experience treating trauma survivors. Consider asking potential providers about their experience working with people who have experienced trauma or sexual abuse as part of your or your family's process in screening and selecting a provider for your child.
- Cultural competency is important in the therapeutic relationship. A therapist or counselor should have training and experience working with cultures other than their own, and demonstrate a desire to continually grow their own competence in working with diverse communities. More information about the link between trauma therapy and cultural competence is available also from the National Child Traumatic Stress Network<sup>21</sup>.
- The Illinois Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities Code, 405 ILCS 5/, provides that children 12 years of age or older may request and receive up to eight 90-minute sessions (previously five 45-minute sessions) of professional counseling services or psychotherapy (provided by a clinical psychologist) without the consent of the child's parent, guardian, or person in loco parentis. 405 ILCS 5/3-550.
- Children and families seeking mental health treatment should feel empowered to seek a new therapist or different treatment provider if their current provider is not a good fit.

Legal Assistance and Advocacy on Behalf of Victims

The Illinois Attorney General's Office has a wealth of legal resources for survivors of sexual abuse and their families on its website, including a section dedicated to information about sexual assault<sup>24</sup>. Information is also provided about the Crime Victim Compensation Program<sup>25</sup> in Illinois. Another section of the attorney general's website, Rights of the People<sup>26</sup>, has information to help members of the public learn more about their civil rights. This section includes information about immigration rights<sup>27</sup>, disability rights<sup>27</sup>, and others. Additionally, the attorney general maintains a list<sup>29</sup> of referral resources across the state for those seeking legal assistance.

The Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) helps to implement a number of laws that are in place to assist vulnerable populations with school stability. Students and families experiencing homelessness have specialized support available<sup>30</sup> in Illinois schools, as do students who are considered Youth in Care<sup>31</sup> because they are under the guardianship of the DCFS. Additionally, the Ensuring Success in School law was passed specifically to support student survivors of sexual assault in Illinois schools, and an ISBE task force<sup>32</sup> is working on a report about this law as of the writing of this resource guide. Finally, ISBE's Student Care Department<sup>33</sup> maintains a list<sup>34</sup> of legal advocacy resources that may be able to provide free or reduced-price legal representation for Illinois school students. This list includes contact information of organizations that offer legal assistance to victims of child sexual abuse.

Sexual assault centers offer legal advocacy to survivors. The support can begin during the sexual assault emergency exam at the hospital and continue through the entirety of the judicial system. Advocates are available to help a survivor understand and protect the survivor's rights during all phases of the legal process. If the survivor chooses to participate in the process of prosecution, the advocate can assist the survivor in meeting with and asking questions of law enforcement. Advocates can also work with the survivors to obtain civil legal remedies, such as a Civil No Contact Order. The services are free and confidential.

Children's Advocacy Centers (CACs) include multidisciplinary teams made up of law enforcement, child protective services, prosecutors, and family advocates. Family advocates are CAC staff that help survivors and their supporters navigate the aftermath of abuse within the multidisciplinary team. Appendix 1 and 2, respectively, contain the listings for CACs and sexual assault centers across the state.
